

News letter – February 6th 2023

Hello,

Recently the weather around a factory has been getting colder and we have seen a lot of snow fall.

We hope everyone is keeping safe if you are also receiving cold weather!

Towards the end of last month, we went to the RoboDEX 2023 expo in Tokyo.

There we saw a lot of interesting new robots performing various complex tasks, using all manner of Vacuum solutions.

We were able to talk with providers of Convum products, as well as robotic manufacturers.

We are looking forward to attending future expos, as well as exhibiting our own products at the international robotics expo towards the end of the year!

We have also been working on a brand new Convum branding website that will be running alongside our product page.

The URL will be swapping to Convum.com,

So we hope you can all get the opportunity to check it out very soon.

For the latest news about the goings on in Convum for our overseas customers, please add us on your preferred social media network!

Facebook

Instagram

Twitter

LinkedIn

YouTube *currently Japanese, but does contain English videos